Words from our Director

Holiday greetings to you and yours from the library staff and board of trustees. May the New Year bring health, happiness and many visits to the library! During this busy holiday season, be sure to make time for yourself. Try to make it as stress free as possible. Take a walk at night and stargaze. Remember to have some fun. Do something that makes you happy. Smell some lemons – seriously, lemon scents instantly boost your mood. And of course, visit the library. Borrow some holiday music to listen to. Get lost in a book. Come to a library program. We have a great collection of books for holiday doings and many magazines with holiday help. Make your own cards, crafts, decorations, foods, cookies, ornaments and handmade gifts. You can also borrow December magazines in the library's downloadable collection, from the online catalog, from home, with lots of articles on holiday help. Most importantly, remember what the season is truly all about.

Friends of NBPL

Suddenly we have short days, long cold nights and the beginning of the holiday season! All very good reasons to visit Friends events to find something good to read or to give as a gift! The Friends second annual Holiday Pop-Up Sale will be held in the lobby of the Main Library on Tuesday, December 6 from 10 am to 4 pm. In addition to books for all age groups, you will find stocking stuffers and other surprises, along with baked goods made by Friends, library board members, and library staff. (Thank you to all!) For the first time, we will accept Visa, MasterCard, American Express and Discover credit cards.

In January, the Friends will hold a month long sale of DVDs and books on CD in the lobby of the Main Library. The sale will begin on Tuesday, January 3 and end on Monday, January 30 and will be open during regular library hours. Payment is made at the Information Desk. No credit cards accepted during this sale.

At the Every Day Book Sale, December's featured categories are Christmas Books (both fiction and nonfiction) and Religion. The author of the month is Stuart Woods.

The regular December meeting of the Friends board has been cancelled. The January and February meetings will begin at 4:30 pm rather than the usual starting time of 5:30 pm.
